

Bob Nugent,

Vice President, Advisory Services

AMI International

Bob joined AMI in Bremerton WA in 2007 as a Senior Consultant following a 22 year career as a US naval officer. Bob recently relocated to Northern Virginia to head up AMI's newly opened DC Operations Office. He advises on defense, naval, maritime, C4/ISR, aerospace, and unmanned systems markets. His skill sets include strategic planning, defense systems, tactics, and platform analysis; market and risk research; business process improvement; and international project management.

Bob earned undergraduate degrees at New Mexico State University and graduated with distinction from the U.S. Naval War College in 2004. He attended the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School and Defense Language Institute, where he studied Russian. He received his M.B.A from Marymount University in Arlington, Virginia in 2007.

His last Navy assignment was as Director of Command and Control overseeing major C4ISR programs on the U.S. Navy's acquisition staff in the Pentagon. During his naval career Bob served as Assistant Naval Attache in Moscow, current intelligence department head on the U.S. Navy staff in London, and in analytic and watch officer assignments in Hawaii, South Korea, and Japan. He has also been a Staff Intelligence Officer afloat for expeditionary and aviation units.

Bob is married to Nancy Smedberg of McLean, Virginia where they live with their 7 children. Bob has been an adjunct instructor for Navy College Economics and Accounting courses and coaches youth athletics.
